Individual remanufacturing for manifold pressure sensor

Since the beginning of 2010 it is possible to get manifold pressure sensors of D-Jetronic overhauled. The manifold pressure sensor is a relevant component for the adequate functionality of the D-jetronic fuel injection system. New sensors are not available anymore in the market but your original defective part can be professionally refurbished by Bosch Automotive Tradition. The „1:1 REMAN“ process at a Bosch plant guarantees the same quality as the serial remanufacturing. At the moment air-flow sensors, fuel distributors, warm-up regulators and auxiliary-air devices can be remanufactured as well.
